

1. Sample Ph.D. Map – Julie

Julie is entering the Comparative Literature PhD program with a B.A. only, so she has no transfer credits. She is fluent in French. She also wants to complete a Certificate in Translation Studies. Julie has a University Fellowship, which provides her with a stipend over 11 months. She hopes to become a professor and needs a lot of teaching experience to make her competitive on the job market.

Year One

Fall semester: 12 units of coursework; Spring semester: 12 units of coursework

Summer: Julie takes German for Reading Knowledge for Graduate Students to fulfill the foreign language requirement.

24 units (summer course does not count toward total)

Year Two

Fall semester: 9 units of coursework, mentored teaching experience; Spring semester: 10 units of coursework (includes one unit translation module for certificate requirement), mentored teaching experience, defend paper for Master's degree.

43 units cumulative

Year Three

Fall semester: 10 units of coursework (includes one unit translation module for certificate), mentored teaching experience; Spring semester: 9 units of coursework, mentored teaching experience

62 units cumulative

Year Four

Fall semester: 4 units of coursework (includes final one unit translation module for certificate), mentored teaching experience; pass first comprehensive exam; Spring semester: 3 units of coursework; research, mentored teaching experience; pass second comprehensive exam in February, pass third comprehensive exam in May

69 units cumulative

Year Five

Fall semester: submit Title, Scope, Procedure form to Graduate School by start of the semester, research, mentored-teaching experience; Spring semester: research, mentored teaching experience

Year Six

Fall semester: full-time research; Use $1,000 in Dissertation Travel Funds for research and travel. Spring semester: full-time research. Defend dissertation and graduate. Congratulations, Dr. Julie!